

CITY TO PUSH LEGISLATION FOR RELIEF BONDS

Today

HAPPY BIRTHDAY
COOLIDGE, HE SPEAKS OUT
BACK TO CAVE DAYS.

The New York Evening Journal, one of W. R. Hearst's many newspapers, celebrated its 35th birthday anniversary yesterday, announcing a daily average circulation for 35 years or more than 600,000, and a total circulation of more than 7,000,000,000 copies.

The newspaper which Mr. Hearst started from scratch 35 years ago, with S. S. Carvalho as publisher interests newspaper publishers because of the Evening Journal's persistent domination in its field, more than double the circulation of any other evening newspaper in New York for more than 30 years.

Newspaper workers are interested because the Evening Journal pays the highest salaries in the newspaper profession, in some cases, more than three times the salary that the people pay the President, who gets only $75,000 a year.

The birthday of a successful newspaper raises the question: "What is news?" The answer depends on the individual who asks the question. To a native in the Congo the big news tells about killing a hippopotamus, plenty of meat.

In Wall street the important news of the fight between gold and silver several nations following the example of England and saying "good bye gold; We can get along without you."

For farmers and housewives the news is that potato growers in Maine get only 50 cents a barrel for potatoes that cost $1.25 to grow.

For everybody it is interesting news that the Lindberghs are mapping out 8,000 square miles of flooded territory in China, miserably starving men and women rushing their plane, hoping to find food, and finding only medicines.

The big political news is Calvin Coolidge's statement to Cyrus H. K. Curtis's Saturday Evening Post that it is the duty of everybody to get back of President Hoover and support him warmly now and in November, 1932. Those who think Coolidge would steal the nomination do not know Coolidge and he tells them so.

Circulation managers, as important to newspapers as a mason is to a building, are interested in this incident in the Evening Journal's career. One of the young editors whom W. R. Hearst had engaged decided on a certain day that the Evening Journal, which had then 40,000 circulation, must pass the Evening World's 325,000 circulation and calculated that to pass the world would take about seven years of hard work.

Four months later the Evening Journal guaranteed four times the circulation of the Evening World, which shows that a thing can be done, when you are young.

One New York police story carries you back to ancient days.

Mario Barrone, young, good looking, entered this country from Italy illegally. Then he entered the home of Mrs. Margaret Merola, aged 27, and stole her from her husband.

The police found Barrone, tied to a bed in an apartment where

FRUIT GROWERS PROPOSE CRATE, BASKET PLANT

Columbiana County Producers to Discuss Plan At Leetonia Meet

QUOTE FIGURES IN FARM SURVEY

Declare Production would Save Freight and Other Costs

Establishment of a cooperative basket and crate manufacturing in Leetonia will be discussed at a meeting of Columbiana county fruit and vegetable growers at 8 p. m. Thursday at Leetonia city hall, it was announced here today by Phil Hiddleston, former mayor of Salem, and W. H. Matthews, widely known fruit grower and former president of the Ohio Horticultural society, who are interested in the development of the project.

Leetonia was selected as the site of the proposed plant because of its accessibility to two railroads, the Erie and Pennsylvania, and centralized location in the district farm and vegetable growing area. Several possible factory buildings are now under consideration, it was said.

Surveys conducted by farm leaders showed that at the present time growers in this district annually spend approximately $300,000 for crates, baskets and tubs. All of this money, they said, with the exception of a small part that is expended for smaller baskets, goes out of the state. The nearest point they assert, from which growers can obtain larger sized packing equipment, is located 365 miles from Salem.

The survey made by leaders covered territory between East Rochester and East Palestine and North Lima and Rogers, representing more than 12,000 acres of orchards. It was found that in addition to payment of $300,000 for crates and baskets, the growers expended $28,000 for freight for the equipment.

Need Larger Equipment

At the present time, they explained, there is an urgent need for a basket and crate making factory in Northeastern Ohio. In the entire state there are only 12 similar factories, none of which, however produce packing equipment larger than 16-quart baskets.

It is planned to manufacture all types and all sizes of baskets, and tubs at the Leetonia plant should plans for its organization materialize. Efforts are being made to interest all growers in the project.

B. H. SEBRING NAMED IN SUIT

Breach of Promise Charged Against Alliance Man By Woman Who Asks $100,000 Heart Balm

Bert H. Sebring of Alliance, manager of the Sebring Copperage company at Sebring, today was named defendant in a $100,000 breach of promise suit filed against him late Monday by Miss Roxanne MacLaren, Youngstown.

The suit was filed by Miss MacLaren in Mahoning county common pleas court, Youngstown, alleging that Sebring proposed marriage to her on Dec. 22, 1928. Miss MacLaren, in her petition, stated that she had been employed as Sebring's private secretary at that time.

The plaintiff alleged in her petition that she and Sebring had appeared as man and wife in various Northeastern Ohio hotels.

Miss MacLaren said that she had not been aware of the fact that Sebring was already married when she accepted his proposal. She charges that her reputation has been injured and that she has been ostracized socially.

Duty Comes First

His duty as a citizen was stronger with Frank Everett, prosperous New York merchant than his love for his son. So he signed a grand larceny complaint against the youth, Emmett Everett (above), 24, which may result in sending the young criminal to Sing Sing for the rest of his life. If Emmett is found guilty, it will be mandatory on the judge to sentence him to life, for he already has been convicted of grand larceny three times.

YOUTH TO FACE COURT ON $696 ROBBERY COUNT

Fled Indictment April 22; Salineville Lad Is Nabbed by Sheriff

Frank Lones. Bolen is charged with having entered and robbed a boxcar following a railroad accident in Salineville. He is said to have stolen goods valued at $696. He was indicted by the grand jury but escaped from the county shortly after the indictment was returned against him.

The youth was arrested during a raid conducted by Sheriff W. J. Barlow and Deputies Frank Balantine, George Hays and William Virden on a place allegedly operated by Bessie Kellogg, Highlandtown-Salisbury rd. Saturday night. He is said to have recently returned to Salineville from Cheyenne, Wyo.

Thomas Lewis, who resides four miles east of Salem, and against whom three indictments were returned by the recent grand jury, has been sentenced to from one to 20 years in the Ohio penitentiary on one indictment charging him with uttering and publishing a forged instrument. Lewis was indicted on three separate counts for forged checks. Two of the indictments were nolle by Prosecuting Attorney John E. Bauknecht after he was sentenced.

Plead Guilty

JURY IS TAKEN TO CRIME SCENE IN REESE TRIAL

Alliance Man Accused of Murder In Homeworth Laborer's Death

SIX MEN, SIX WOMEN TO HEAR EVIDENCE

Defendant Is Second To Face Court in McPeck Slaying July 9

CANTON, Sept. 29.—A jury of six men and six women was impaneled in Common Pleas Judge E. W. Diehl's court today to try William Reese, Negro, of Alliance, on a first degree murder charge in the death of George McPeck, a farm laborer, formerly of Homeworth.

Immediately after the jurors had been permanently seated, they were taken to the George Wallace farm a mile east of Yeagley's Corners where the fatal shooting occurred last July 9. The jurors on their trip to the murder scene were in charge of the court bailiff and were accompanied by opposing counsel.

The shooting occurred when a trio of Negro chicken thieves exchanged shots with Wallace and his son, Olan. Although unarmed, McPeck was on the scene at the time and was wounded fatally, the state claims, by one of the intruders.

After it has been permanently seated, the jury probably will be taken to the Wallace farm for a view of the crime scene.

On their return, opening statements will be made and the state's first witness called.

Defense attorneys will attempt to prove an alibi for the defendant, the claim being that on the second trip to the Wallace farm, Reese was not present, but was home asleep.

Took 100 Chickens, Charge

The state contends Reese, accompanied by Ernest Tinker and John Johnson, visited the farm the first time and took 100 chickens, and that they returned a short time later.

Johnson was also wounded and died the following day. Tinker was tried last week on a murder charge and convicted, the jury recommending mercy. A motion for a new trial has been filed.

ZEP COMPLETES NINE-HOUR TRIP

Giant Dirigible Makes Longest Trip Since Construction; More Flights Planned

AKRON, Sept. 29.—The longest flight made so far was written into the log of the U. S. S. Akron today as the giant zeppelin was made ready for the next of a series of tests required before it is finally accepted by the navy.

The Akron was up nine hours yesterday for measurement of its turning radius. Theodolites, instruments resembling a surveyor's telescope, were placed atop the dock and a factory three miles away to record the ship's turning radius as Lieut. Commander Charles E. Rosendahl sent it through circles and semi-circles.

After the ship was docked shortly before 8 p. m. Rear Admiral George C. Day of the naval board of inspection and survey, said the flight was "very successful". The ship cruised out over Lake Erie part of the time.

At least three more test flights will be made, it was announced. The next, the fifth, will determine the "dynamic lift" and the speed at which the ship ascends and descends under different loads. This test may be made tomorrow.

Festival Windows to Show Charming Fashions for Fall

New Designs and Influences Apparent In Women's Wear for Cold Weather Period; Latest In Fabrics and Styles On Exhibit October 2-3

"What'll I wear?"

No matter what the season, it's an important question for Milady. The advent of every season seems to bring so many charming things to wear—new gowns, new designs, new coats, new shoes, delightful accessories, that this matter of selection sometimes become quite a problem.

Fall festival days will find Salem merchants thoroughly equipped and stocked to cater to every need in feminine apparel, from toe to tip and the gorgeous new fall and winter togs are really a treat to the eyes.

Every resource will be called upon to perfect the displays that will adorn windows Friday and Saturday, Oct. 2 and 3, the festival days, which are sponsored by the Salem Business bureau in cooperation with the American Legion.

Stocks are new, clean and fresh—the last word in what to wear.

New Lines, New Influences

The fashion experts have followed new lines, shapes and influences that are immediately apparent in dresses for the coming fall, all of which will be aptly displayed during the festival days.

Bias cuts mold and shape the silhouette and their contributions to the mode is of extreme importance. This fashion for diagonals extends to the décolletage of both daytime and evening gowns, and the bias line makes necklines interesting in front and back. The necklines which give most prominence to the bias cut form a triangle with the sharp point at one side only. This line is very important because it emphasizes the other diagonal lines in the dress.

TAX CHIEFTAIN URGES SPEED IN WELFARE PLANS

Council to Eliminate Preliminary Moves, Solicitor Says

WILL GET FINANCE MEASURE OCT. 6

If Approved, Ordinance Will Bring Cash Within Six Weeks

Complying with requests of John W. Edwards, Ohio tax commissioner, legislation providing for the issuance of $10,000 in bonds for relief of work this winter, will be enacted as rapidly as possible, City Solicitor Cecil K. Scott announced today. Council, meeting Oct. 6, will be asked to approve the proposal under suspension of rules.

Plan Final Legislation

Plans for passage of a preliminary resolution declaring it necessary to proceed with the bond issue were abandoned by Scott following Edwards' request and final legislation will be placed before the council body in its next meeting. Funds will be available to the city from the issue within six weeks after passage of the ordinance, providing the approval of the state tax commission and welfare association is received, Scott said.

Municipalities planning to issue bonds for poor relief were urged to rush legislation to take advantage of the Pringle-Roberts bill, approved by the recent general assembly, in that the act is effective only until January 1, 1932, Edwards explained. They may issue the bonds not to exceed one twentieth of one per cent of the subdivision's property valuation for 1930.

Will Save Time

By eliminating action on the preliminary resolution council will be able to avail itself of funds obtainable through the bond issue at least two weeks earlier than under ordinary legislative action on similar measures, the solicitor points out.

The commission and welfare department already have approved numerous issues, including one of $20,000 asked by the city of Lorain.

The state bodies have under consideration several other issues proposed under terms of the measure. These include a $16,000 bond issue asked by the city of Lima; a $28,000 issue proposed by the city of Marion; an $8,000 issue asked by the city of Bellaire; a $200,000 issue for Stark county; a $35,000 issue for Lake county; a $150,000 issue for Summit county; a $45,000 issue for Mahoning; an issue of $9,000 for the city of Sidney, and a $10,000 issue for the village of Struthers.

Struthers, Lima Funds Approved

Of the proposals recently submitted, the tax commission has affixed its stamp of approval on these of the city of Lima and the village of Struthers. If the issues are also approved by the welfare department the subdivisions may proceed accordingly. Edwards asserted that the Stark county issue undoubtedly would be approved.

The Marion issue has not been approved, Edwards said, but appears to be justified. The issue contemplated by the city of Bellaire awaits review by the tax commissioners due to failure of the city council to answer a questionnaire immediately.

Those for the city of Sidney, Lake county and Mahoning county also will not be acted upon until the necessary data is received by the tax commission, according to Edwards.

ITALY'S TARIFF BOOST

Italy's 15 per cent increase on imports should tell long-range critics of the American tariff something. For instance, they might use it to reach the conclusion that there is a lot of un-mapped territory between their theory of tariff and the facts of that instrument as statesmen see them.Italy is boosting its tariff to meet a deficit in the state budget.
Great Britain, which also is leaning sweetly toward the protection
a tariff would afford, is actuated by the same motive. The tariff is a tangible instrument in such cases not a shadowy theory that ought to do this and ought not to do that.It is a noteworthy fact that in the mass of vituperation against the Hawley-Smoot tariff there is no mention of what could have been substituted for it satisfactorily under the circumstances. It happens that the tariff, badly drawn and inequitable as President Hoover, himself admits it is, was inevitable. Objecting to it is as unreasonable as crying about wage cuts after they have been made.It is not popular to defend the tariff. The negotiators have been having a holiday with it, picking it to pieces but never advancing an idea as to what would have been, or would be, any better. Pinned down to facts, most of them can get no farther than their own conviction that it should be condemned; they say not why.Italy's move, of course will complicate the international tariff situation. It will serve to perpetuate certain international financial troubles. It will penalize the United States and Great Britain, both of which sell quantities of goods to Italy. But, at the same time, it will bring needed revenue into Italy's treasury, which is, always has been and always will be the motive of tariff action.

What Others Say

SPEAKING OF HOARDED
WEALTHMr. Gandhi has now joined the great Old world chorus of those who blame it all on the United States.
This country, he says, worships Mammon and now "has a great hoard of gold, a curse and a primary cause of the depression, which must be dissipated, and put into circulation, and wealth equalized."
Without doubt the United States is very rich in gold. There is so much in its coffers that it would like to get rid of several cords if there were only some practical way of doing so. But it is rather fantastic for a personage hailing from a land that adores the gory, skull encircled Siva, to talk about worship of Mammon.And as for hoarding. Unless long, persistent and volubly well-authenticated rumors are grossly misleading, Mr. Gandhi's native and "impoverished India is the repository of more gold, silver and precious stones than all the other portions of earth put together. For ages it has been a bottomless pit into which precious metals and the jewels of the world have been pouring in an uninterrupted stream. The hidden wealth of some of the Hindu potentates unquestionably is still fabulous, even though the slump in the value of silver has diminished it.
If only a part were "dissipated," distributed and put into circulation, not only India, but the whole world would roll in new wealth. If Mr. Gandhi wants to preach "wealth equalization"— but why a person who so affects to despise wealth should desire to do anything of the sort we cannot understand—he ought to start his propaganda by crating to the wealthy personages of his own country.The United States at least makes its wealth productive as it has opportunity. India does little with its wealth but use it for display or hide it in vaults. That is a reason why scores of millions there always are half starved.—Detroit Free Press.

The Stars Say —

For Wednesday, Sept. 30

An interesting and eventful day may be presaged from the dominant reign of important planets.
While those in the employment of others may have anxious or disquieting moments yet there may be openings for strategic moves or secret agreements. Change or removal is indicated, but with an unfortunate position of Jupiter the finances may not be to the advantage. But substantial accumulation or benefits are probable, possibly as applied to property or other solid investment. Shun chance and safeguard against fraud or treachery.Those whose birthday it is may prepare for an eventful year, with change or travel, some new arrangement in employment, and benefits through secret agreement or with corporations or secret bodies. But be careful with the funds. An increase in solid accumulation through property or investment is possible, or through the favor of elderly persons or institutions. A child born on this day should be steady, practical, and likely to accumulate real possessions, although subject to loss by fraud or extravagance.Notable nativity: Wm. Wrigley Jr., manufacturer.

Why Get Up Nights?

Make This 25c Test

Physic the bladder as you would the bowels. Drive out impurities and excessive acids that cause irritation, burning and frequent desire. Get a 25c test box of BU-KETTS, the bladder physic, from any drug store. After four days if you are not relieved of getting up nights go back and get your money. BU-KETTS contains buchu leaves, juniper oil, etc., acts pleasantly and effectively on the bladder similar to castor oil on the bowels. If you are bothered with bladder or leg pains caused from bladder disorders you are bound to feel better after this cleansing and you get your regular sleep.

ATLANTIC CITY, Sept. 29.—This coast resort has become a sort of Broadway peninsula. One may whisk through the Holland Tunnel
—like a greased pig through a child's—and on a straight away road arrive from Times Square in a little more than three hours.It has been the special playground of theatrical folk, whose engagements kept them in New York this season. They leave after the Saturday night performance and return late Monday. Consequently hotels are well filled over the week end.But generally speaking Atlantic City, like pleasure haunts the world over, has had usual slim pickings.
Broadway was represented on the boardwalk today by such figures as George S. Kaufman, Irving Caesar, George M. Cohan, Joe Prisco and Sam Harris. The Ritz is their open forum.The most astonishing figure in a promenade along the fantastic hotel crags was a burnt black lady in de-collette bathing suit with a snow white fur flung like a serape across her shoulder. On a leash she had a Persian cat whose fluffy coat was died a light pink.The board walk is a several mile narrowly planked strip of free window display. On one side its deflant hotels, pert shops, catch-penny amusement trivia and on the other the cyster white beach, ocean and projecting piers. The community, like the unceasing tide, lurches forward and back in rolling chairs.Chairs are a dollar an hour and a fraction thereof thereafter. Its pushers form a profession distinctly apart from any other I know. Walking indeterminable miles daily in the stabbing sun, showing their human loads, they are remindful of drudges of the water mills in ancient serfdom.Many are colored but the majority are white, some with one arm, crippled feet and otherwise malformed. Yet now and then in the flotsam is one whose niceties of speech and manner proclaim the gentleman stained by the pathos of life. As a chair-pusher with head bowed he may hide from the world.For instance, my pusher seemed utterly miscast for his role. He had more the appearance of one of those wandering scholars with knapsacks so frequently seen along the Rhine or in the German forests. Drawing up momentarily for a rest and a view of the ocean front, he pulled out a tattered volume. It was printed in French. Questioning developed he was a private language tutor shunted. I hope only temporarily, to this depressing obscurity.Visitors to Atlantic City are about the only folk to wear clothes. The natives, especially women and children, go through the season in bathing togs. Shortly before sundown when the sea is veined with Lueifer entire families drift to the beach for their swim. Later housewives may be seen in the kitchen in swimming attire cooking the evening meal. Husbands and children, so dressed, wait on front porches for the call to dinner.The beach is radiantly grained with surprising handwork of the sand artist. In his relief are sculptured pictures of Lincoln, Hens, tigers, Hoover, a Venus, Gibson girls and forest scenes. Some are colored in fetching tints. The artist depends on pitched coins of passers-by for his livelihood.Sunburn lotions cost Atlantic City hotels staggering sums in ruined linens and towels. The stains cannot be removed and bathrooms and bedrooms are hung with warnings in red that patrons must pay for such damage—costs range from $3 a bedsheet to a dollar for a towel.A beach fad for the seasonal flapper is a brown frock and floppy linen hat to match the autumnal shade of her tanned skin. One such monochrome, suggesting the carved,serene beauty of the Indian, with hair the light pulled taffy of Lyda Roberti's turns heads everywhere.Atlantic City is a mecca for swamis and other Oriental seers.
One today, suggesting a charcoal edition of Ben Ali Haggin, prophe-sized: "You are about to receive an unexpected business offer of great magnitude. And between leaping to the ring of the telephone and haunting the hotel telegraph office I'm fit to be tied."BAMBOO RAKES—3 Sizes, 50c Up

War On Tuberculosis

Since 1900, the death rate from tuberculosis has been cut in half.
This is a remarkable achievement,
but we must not stop our efforts.

DR. COPELAND

Tuberculosis is a disease which,
if recognized early and proper treatment is given, is curable.
Of course there are some cases in which the future is not quite so bright. But in the majority of cases, much can be done by way of cure when the attack is treated in its very early stages.may make its attack. Then perhaps the disease is not recognized until it is advanced so far that cure is impossible.If all persons would visit their doctors at least twice a year, many a disease, like tuberculosis, would be disposed of at once. Whether they have any complaints or not everybody should have these periodical examinations. If they did this there would be a tremendous number of cases of tuberculosis recognized in the stage when the disease is curable. With the application of immediate care and medical attention, it would be but a short time when the road to recovery would be filled with happy people.It is a pity that many an individual who has tuberculosis and knows it, hesitates to seek relief.
This is because he fears being sent away from home and becoming a social outcast.

All May Have Care

Such an attitude is unwise and unnecessary. Institutions devoted to the care of tubercular patients are usually located in the most ideal surroundings. Hardly a community fails to offer suitable places for the treatment. The time spent in these establishments is not unpleasant.Persons without the necessary funds to go to a private sanitarium, find that public sanitariums are readily located. No great hardship is imposed upon those seeking relief.Nothing is more selfish than for an individual who has tuberculosisto continue in his daily work. He has daily contacts with other individuals, contacts which may cause others to contract the disease.It is only by the earnest cooperation of all that the prevalence of this disease can be further reduced.
The campaigns against tuberculosis deserve generous support.

Principals in Poison Case

One of the most sensational murder trials ever held in Indiana is now in progress in the Boone County courthouse (lower) at Lebanon. Mrs. Carrie Simmons, 48, of Greenfield, Ind. (upper left with daughter, Alice Jean, 10), is accused of murdering Alice Jean and Virginia (left center), 14, her other daughter, with strychnine-poisoned sandwiches while the family attended a picnic on June 21, last. The same sandwiches caused the serious illness of John W. Simmons, father of the children and the accused woman's husband. Circuit Court Judge John W. Hornaday (upper right) is trying Mrs. Simmons' case.

FETE WINDOWS SHOW FASHIONS

One of the important fashion themes to be introduced this fall is the modern influence. Designers of the new dresses have ceased to copy the costumes of other days and are turning their attention to the possibilities in this modern era.

Elaborate seamings, so long an outstanding feature of the mode, are continued for the new season. These are carried out in diagonal lines at the hips, diamond and square shaped motifs and crisp cross effects.

Another interesting version of the silhouette is the wrap-around skirt, a natural result of the same influence in the new coats for fall. These skirts are usually carried out in light weight woolsens, heavy crepes and ribbed silks.

With all this slenderness of line below the waistline, it is interesting to observe the tendency towards width above.

In daytime and afternoon dresses this width is attained by sleeves that are wide above the armholes in dolman-like or raglan shapings, and in frocks that combine two colors—one forming the upper section of the blouse.

Width Above Waistline

Another new and most effective means of attaining width above the waistline is in the bloused effect, draping over the belt, or caught in the molded waistline.

Velvet is most conspicuous this season in sheer transparent, uncut, ribbed, checked and costume versions. The two-color idea is carried out in striking fashion by the use of velvets in black and white, black and flesh, and black and beige.

There is no question about satin as a high fashion for fall. During the late summer smart shops were featuring it for both daytime and evening wear, and style authorities agree that every well planned wardrobe should certainly include satin frocks or suits for fall.

Metallic Fabrics Return

The return of the fashion for metallic fabrics is a welcome variation of the mode. They will be

NO DISTRESS after eating

GET RID of that old dread of indigestion, and eat without fear of distress.

When food ferments; disagrees; lies like lead in the stomach, it is a sign of too much acid. The stomach nerves have been over-stimulated. The quick corrective is an alkali. Don't resort to burning doses of soda—take instead, an antacid that will correct the condition. Phillips' Milk of Magnesia!

A spoonful of this soothing alkali restores the proper alkaline balance to an acid-soaked system. Then the stomach, liver and bowels function as they should.

Phillips' Milk of Magnesia is what you need when bad breath or coated tongue indicate too much acid. Take a spoonful today, and for several days, and see how soon it sweetens the entire system. Your digestion will be vastly improved. Things will taste better and you will feel better in so many ways.

Also you will find when your system is properly alkaline you are not so susceptible to sickness and colds. That you are no longer troubled with constipation, or with headaches, gas on the stomach. An alkaline balance builds resistance.

Ask for Phillips' Milk of Magnesia, which is the preparation of magnesium prescribed and recommended by your own doctor for correcting excess acid. 25c and 50c bottles are sold at drugstores everywhere.

To avoid the condition of acid mouth, you should use a milk of magnesia toothpaste. Your teeth are worthy of the best dentifrice. Try Phillips' Dental Magnesia, which contains 75% concentrated Phillips' Milk of Magnesia.

STOCKS REDUCED AS SALES LIVE

Prominent Issues dropped To New Lows; Rails Held Steady

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Stocks dipped under a recurrence of lively selling today.

Half a dozen or more prominent issues, including U. S. Steel, American Telephone, Allied Chemical, Eastman and General Motors, went to new lows on losses of 1 to 2 points. American Tobacco "B," Kresge, Kreuger & Toll, Union Pacific, Woolworth and General Electric were other soft spots. American Can, which opened 2 points higher, more than lost its gain, duplicating its old low.

Suspension of the gold standard by Denmark, had been widely forecast in Wall street. Just at present the gyrations of foreign exchanges contribute considerably to unsettlement, but it is believed some time must elapse before comparative stability in currencies can be attained.

Brokerage houses commented on the fair degree of steadiness shown by the rail stocks in recent sessions, viewing the trend of that group as a favorable sign.

THEATER Attractions

"BOUGHT" with Constance Bennett in the leading role is the State theaters attraction today.

She plays the part of Stephany Dale, a modern girl brought up in poverty and compelled to bear the slings and arrows of gossip who twit her about her doubtful birth. Stephany determines early to get into high society, for money and position, so she believes, safely shield their possessors from unhappiness.

Miss Bennett exquisitely depicts the emotional role and she is ably supported by Ben Lyon, who plays the part of the poor scribbler who is deserted for a time, and in the end seems to her a rather good substitute. The ancient benefactor who is always in the offing to give help is played with splendid vividness by Richard Bennett, father of the star. Dorothy Peterson, who is remembered in "Mothers Cry" plays Stephany's mother.

"EAST OF BORNEO," perhaps the most novel motion picture to be shown in Salem this season is the Grand theater's attraction today.

The story concerns an Oriental rajah, an American woman and her former husband. The latter, embittered by his unsuccessful marital venture, has chosen literally

Live in Perfect Harmony!

If any dissention arises among these 8-year-old negro quadruplets from the Jenkins Orphanage Institute in Charleston, S. C., they have only to lift their voices in song—and perfect harmony reigns! The brothers' voices cover a complete range of pitch and blend in a natural quartet, even including a bass voice. Left to right, the warbling quadruplets are Emerson, Methaniel, James and Allen Fox. None has had any singing lessons.

to bury himself in the Malay jungles where he is the only white man, and where he acts as personal physician to the rajah of the district. The wife, feeling the return of her old love for her former husband, follows him to this tropical outpost, and it is after her arrival that the story takes on an unusual quality of tense drama. With the indignant husband repulsing his former wife, and the rajah casting covetous eyes on her, a situation is created which leads to exciting events and a most thrilling climax.

Charles Bickford and Rose Hobart lead a splendid cast.

FIND BODY NEAR YACHT SLAYING

Authorities Press to See Important Clue in Death of Benjamin Collings

NORTHPORT, N. Y., Sept. 29.—The body of a man washed ashore today not far from where the strange murder of Benjamin P. Collings of Stamford took place Sept. 9, gave Suffolk county authorities what they believed might be their most important clue to the Collings slaying.

Assistant District Attorney Fred J. Mander began immediate efforts to learn the man's identity. He thought the body might be that of the wounded companion of the two Long Island sound "pirates" who, Mrs. Collings says, murdered her husband and abducted her.

In all her accounts of the tragedy that befell them on their cabin cruiser, the Penguin, as it lay anchored in the sound the night of Sept. 9, Mrs. Collings has said that the two "pirates" boarded their boat on the original pretense of having to take a wounded man across the sound to Connecticut.

After her husband had been thrown overboard, bound by his ankles and wrists, the wounded man mysteriously disappeared, from the pirates' conversation, Mrs. Collings said.

A preliminary examination indicted the body found today had been in the water about three weeks. It was three weeks ago tomorrow night that the mysterious attack on the Penguin took place. Under the right ear was a hole which it was believed might prove to be a bullet wound.

SALEM MARKSMEN MEET REORGANIZE OLD CLUB

REORGANIZATION of the Salem Rifle and Pistol club, active association of Salem sharpshooters several years ago, will be started in a meeting of the city's marksmen at Earl L. Grate's garage, South Ellsworth ave., at 7:30 tonight. A number of members of the original club and others planning to join for the first time are expected to be present.

The club was first organized in 1928 but later interest waned and the organization dissolved. This year, however, with marksmanship activities gaining increased popularity, members requested that the club be reorganized and, following a conference by Donald J. Buraw with others, the meeting was called tonight.

A steel lined target butt which belonged to the old club has been repaired and will be used at the Grate garage where a range of 50 yards is available. Regular shoots will be held and soon contests will be scheduled with rifle teams from neighboring communities. Nearly all Salem shooters are members of the National Rifle association, founded by the U. S. department of war, and under whose rules all shooting events will be conducted.

All indoor shooting will be with .22-caliber rifles and hand guns. A short business session, necessary for adoption of any code or by-laws that might be drafted will be held tonight followed by a sharpshooting contest to which the public is invited.

SAM WILLAMAN'S Ohio State gridiron machine inaugurates its 1931 football schedule at Columbus Saturday, playing the Bearcats from Cincinnati. A good, and not altogether one-sided contest is anticipated.

It will be Willaman's third year as head football coach at Ohio State and fans throughout the state are eagerly hoping for a successful season. These hopes are especially high in Salem, his home city, and a goodly number of fans will go to Columbus to witness game.

Another reason for increased enthusiasm in the Cincinnati-Ohio game is the fact that three former Salem High star gridirers may play. One of them, Ed Sidingier, among the outstanding quarterbacks ever produced here, appears certain to start at the signal-calling post for the Bearcats, while Robert Van Blaricom and Samuel Drakulich may play for State.

Watch the talkies carefully within the next few weeks: Four of Salem's younger folk are off for Hollywood, Louis Quinn, Walter Bates, Thomas Rill and Ray Knepper started Monday for an automobile trip to Florida after which they plan to go to California.

Incidentally, Salem residents have been welcoming back to this city, for visit of two weeks, Everett "Bud" McKinley, who was one of the "crowd" six years ago. McKinley, now living in Oakland, Calif., brings news of the Forney family—Mrs. Celia, Morgan and Paul—and others who are so ill-fated as to live in California after having lived here.

School Milk Fund Will Benefit; Leetonia To Play Columbiana Hi

Scheduled as another of the many attractions arranged in Salem during the city's annual fall festival celebration, the Salem Bulldogs, members of the Ohio Bantamweight Football association, battle the famous Kent Bearcats, last year one of the outstanding American midget grid combines, at Reilly athletic stadium, Friday night.

Defeated in their first two starts in league competition, the Bulldogs will be playing their first home game when they clash with the strong Bearcat aggregation. It will be the team's fourth game of the season, two having been lost to Akron and Cuyahoga Falls while the third brought in its only victory, by a 13-0 score, over a combination of talent from Leetonia and Washingtonville.

Milk Fund To Benefit
In addition to being an added attraction for the fall festival, sponsored Friday and Saturday by the Salem Business Bureau and Charles H. Carey post No. 56, American Legion, the contest has another important aspect. It is scheduled as a benefit affair for the Salem public school milk fund to provide additional money for the purchase of milk for the city's under-nourished children. Hundreds of fans are expected to attend.

At the present writing the midget game is the only gridiron entertainment available this week to fans of the city. Salem High's eleven is not scheduled for a varsity fray but negotiations are being made by Faculty Manager Harold M. Williams for a Saturday practice contest for the team's reserves. The next game for the varsity is scheduled Friday night, Oct. 9, with Warren, at Warren.

County Schools Booked
All other Columbiana county scholastic gridirers are booked for games this week. Leetonia is slated to trek to Columbiana to oppose the Red and White's heavy and talented combination in a contest that has all the aspects of a good struggle while Lisbon plays at Minerva Friday afternoon while Friday night

SHIRES TO STAY IN MILWAUKEE

"Whatman" Overlooked by Majors; Batted .400 During Season

(By Associated Press)
MILWAUKEE, Sept. 29. — Art Shires, the colorful first baseman of the Milwaukee Brewers, is resigned to a fate which seems to decree he must languish another year in the minors. No one in the majors is clamoring for him in a very loud tone of voice and Art fears, that this season at least, he has been overlooked.

Shires, probably the original what-a-man, was eased out of the Chicago White Sox for assorted misbehaviors, and a year's penance in the American Association was supposed to be good for his cocky spirit. And now, indications are there will be two years of penance around first base in Milwaukee.

Determined to regain the good will of major league moguls Shires did behave in Milwaukee—pretty well.

"I admit," he said, "that I lifted a stein or two on occasion, but I was always out there the next day to play and produce. I thought I was entitled to another shot in the big show, and I was disappointed when no one put in a bid for me."

Shires made an impressive record with Milwaukee. He was batting close to .400 all season, and a good many of those smacks were produced in pinches.

Gridiron David and Goliath

Be skeptical or not, but these two youths actually are both football stars at Valley Forge Military Academy, Wayne, Pa.—but on different teams. The gridiron David is Charles "Buddy" Travis, of Philadelphia, 12 years old, and weighing 60 pounds. He plays on the academy's junior team. The husky player towering beside "Buddy" is James "Tiny" Rodgers, 17 years old, and weighing 253 pounds. He plays tackle on the varsity.

Can They Come Back? Ask Fistic Fans

The attempt of two former and popular champions to stage comebacks is engaging the interest of fight fans throughout the country. Benny Leonard, holder of the lightweight crown for seven years prior to his retirement in 1924, is following the lead of Jack Dempsey in starting the long trek back to fistic fame. The ex-champions in their first re-

Tunney Denies Comeback Rumor

Former heavyweight champion says he will stay in retirement; writes story of career

BY BRADLEY KELLEY
(Copyright 1931, By International News Service)
STAMFORD, CONN., Sept. 29.—"I am not going to return to the ring," Gene Tunney said emphatically in an exclusive interview granted today to the International News Service. "I seem to be the only person in the country not in doubt as to my reentry into the boxing game."

Tunney was sitting in the bordered garden of his little colonial home outside of Stamford. He was playing with an excited police dog and his statement which ended reports as to his come back was made casually but in a tone which left no room for doubt.

Gene Tunney is through with the ring. There can be no question about that.

"Recently a news story appeared in the papers," he continued, "to the effect that would come back to box Schmeling. It was in Maine at the time and didn't see the paper until four days later. Let me repeat, I have retired for good and nothing would induce me to come back. As for the patriotic argument advanced, I feel that boxing like art, has no national boundaries and that the deciding of the heavyweight championship is no occasion to bring out national anthems and fly flags. The swan song is more appropriate, especially for the dethroned."

"But you're still a young man?" suggested this correspondent who was impressed by the splendid physical condition of the former champion who, today, after a five mile jaunt, weighed just 192 pounds, the same weight he carried when he stepped into the ring against Tom Heeney in his last titular appearance.

"Sure I'm young for a layman," he laughed, "but I'm middleaged for a boxer. Boxing is a young man's game."

Tunney was 34 last May and despite the general impression that Dempsey is a much older man than Gene there is but a year's difference between them.

"But surely you'll take up some occupation?" I queried.

"I am at the age now to reminisce," he said. "At present I am working on a story covering the events of my ring career beginning with the first time I donned a pair of gloves and ending with my retirement in 1928."

But Tunney is still interested in boxing. He can't help it. He at-

Athletic's Defensive Power Rated Ahead of National Champs

NOTE: This is the second of three stories sizing up the relative strength of the world series rivals.

BY ALAN GOULD
NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—Measured by the caliber of pitching or the yardstick of fielding skill and experience, the world's champion Athletics possess a margin of superiority over the Cardinals in defensive strength for the baseball championship battle.

The National league champions have a faster infield, featuring the Frisch-Gelbert combination around second base. The A's otherwise, have an edge on the mound, behind the bat and in the outfield, especially if the sensational ballhawk, Mule Haas, is back in top form.

Great Pitching Staff
Lefty Grove and George Earnshaw, the twin aces upon whom the hopes of another quick American league victory are based, always have had the benefit of sterling support from their teammates. Inspiration works both ways when either of these fast-ball flingers is on the mound.

It's an old baseball axiom that "you can't hit what you can't see" and at times last October, it appeared some of the Cardinal batsmen were not properly visualizing the smoke of Grove and Earnshaw, let alone penetrating it with any substantial success. Walberg and Hoyt will form the second line of pitching defense for the A's.

The Cardinal twirling defense will be distinctly a gamble, if Gabby Street is forced to rely on Paul Derringer and Bill Halahan, instead of Burleigh Grimes and Jesse Haines, veterans of the Red Bird flock. Derringer is a newcomer to series fire. With Halahan, it's either a shutout or a knockout. He blanked the A's the first time he faced them last year and was routed in two innings the next time.

A's Infield Uncertain
The A's infield has never been the club's strongest point. Foxx, for instance, does not compare with Bottomley as a defensive worker, although Jimmy is steady. Bishop is not so spectacular as Frisch, one of the greatest defensive second basemen of all time. Boley, an old reliable, cannot cover the ground, nor has he the arm that Gelbert owns. The Mack substitute, Williams, is more on Gelbert's style. Dykes is about on a par with either Adams or High at third.

On the outer patrol, the A's have two of the finest fly-chasers in Ay Simmons and Mule Haas. Both cover acres of ground and have great arms. Hafey, in left, and either Pepper Martin or Orsatti in center, for the Cardinals, do not quite measure up to the exceptional standard of their rival. Watkins or Roettger, in right field for the National leaguers, lack the experience of the veteran Bing Miller.

Cochrane Ranks High
Mickey Cochrane may have one or two mechanical faults behind the bat. His arm is good, though not the best in the backstopping business, but the great Mack receiver's all around ability surpasses that of the clever Jimmy Wilson, No. 1 catcher for the Cards. Mickey's biggest advantage is at bat. He is one of the greatest "money players" in baseball and has starred in each of the last two world series.

Cochrane's famous scorecard must be ranked a defensive weapon. The 68-year-old manager has studied the batting habits of every Cardinal, personally or through his trusted agents, and will wave his men into position accordingly. If any cracks or breaks develop in the champion's defense, Mack has a flock of reserves primed to gallop into action.

Midget Gridirers Win Three Games

Three victories in two days is a record claimed by a Salem midget gridiron eleven.

The team, dubbed the Regal Terrors, averaging 95 pounds, defeated an aggregation of St. Paul's parochial school talent, 12-0, yesterday, and previous to that defeated a Franklin st. outfit, 33-0.

The third victim was "Beck's All-Stars" who lost by a 27-19 margin.

BY WILLIAM McLEOD RAINE

We had a visitor last night.

SYNOPSIS
Lee Reynolds is the owner of a ranch which drought has almost ruined and starved the cattle. School friends from the east come as paying guests. Lee quarrels with her ranch foreman, Rance Brennan, partly on account of a new hand named Smith she hired without his permission and partly because she rejects his love suit. Brennan is discharged and swears revenge. Dunc Daggett, an old ranch helper, recognizes Smith as Jack Hadley, whose father owned a nearby mine and was murdered by outlaws. Harley tells Daggett that he is searching for the murderer of his father. Lee leaves a Mexican ranch and starts moving the herd southward. Mrs. Doris Silver, a flirtatious friend of Lee's goes on ahead to the Mexican rancho. Brennan drops in just before Jack Hadley who has been sent on by Lee, arrives. Hadley drives to Palo Duro for supplies and takes Doris. Doris wanders off and is abducted, and Hadley has to fight several natives to rescue her. To save himself and Lee from trouble with the government, Hadley leaves, taking Doris, to cross the border.

LOCKED IN
"Where are we?" Doris asked slowly as Hadley gently removed his supporting shoulder.
"Don't know. We've got off the road. I'm going to find out."
He left her in the car and moved toward the house making sure that his revolver hung easily in its scabbard.
Some one flung the door open and called a question. "Who's there? Don't come any nearer."
The man was an American. He carried a rifle.
Hadley explained that they had lost their way. There was a lady with him in the car, he said.
The story passed muster. As Hadley came forward the man apologized.
"Have to be careful these days. We won't be so popular now this darn revolution's started."
"Has it started?"
"Went off with a bang yesterday. Met a fellow down from Nogales. The rebels have taken the city and that whole section. They're going

American Peer and Bride

Lord Fernoy, christened Edmund Maurice Roche as the first of the twin sons born to the former Fanny Work, of New York, and James Burke-Roche, an Irish nobleman, and raised in America, is shown leaving the church in Bieldside, Aberdeen, Scotland, with his bride, the former Ruth Gill, following their marriage. Lord Fernoy, the only member of Parliament to graduate from Harvard University, and well known in New York and Boston, won the right to his title by being born one minute ahead of his twin brother.

"You don't think he has any silly idea of personal vengeance, do you?"
"I think I'd hate to be that man. Jack will hang on to his trail like death to a nigger's heel."
"I hope he never finds him," she said fervently.
"He'll find him. Don't make any mistake about him, Miss Lee." Looking at the car, Lee gave a little exclamation of surprise. "It's mine."
She was right. The car presently drew up beside them. Jack grinned across at his boss.
"They've turned the key in the door that leads to the U. S. We're locked in here with you. The revolution has started."
"I'm sorry you didn't get through," Lee said.
That was true in a way. In another way it wasn't true at all. He had come back to her. The joy of it warmed her slender body.
"One good thing is that everybody will be too busy to pay any attention to my little party at Palo Duro yesterday."
"I hope so . . . You must be all tired out, Doris."
The young woman in the car nodded. "Just a bit. A bed and a bath will do wonders for me. It was rather a lark, though."

AFTER 40 bowel trouble

Constipation may very easily become chronic after forty. And any continued constipation at that time of life may bring attacks of piles and a host of other unpleasant disorders.

Watch your bowels at any age. Guard them with particular care after forty. Whenever they need any help, remember a doctor should know what is best for them.

"Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin" is a doctor's prescription for the bowels. Tested by 47 years' practice, it has been found thoroughly effective in relieving constipation and its ills for men, women and children of all ages. It has proven perfectly safe even for babies. Made from fresh laxative herbs, pure pepsin and other harmless ingredients, it cannot gripe; will not sicken you or weaken you; can be used without harm as often as your breath is bad, or when your tongue is coated; whenever a headachy, bilious, gassy condition warns of constipation.

Arrival Not as Planned

Having crashed into the sea, off the Newfoundland coast, while attempting a flight from Lisbon to the United States, the three intrepid fliers above clung to the wreckage of their Junkers plane for six days, drifting in the treacherous waters. Picked up by the S. S. Belmoira, they were transferred in mid-ocean to the S. S. Stavangerfjord and brought to New York, where they are pictured on arrival. Left to right, top, are Christian Johansen and Willy Rody, German members of the trio. Lower shows Fernando Costa da Vega, in bed as the result of an injury received when the plane crashed.
